Uribe Threatens to Kill Every U. S. Citizen He Catches

Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 9.—Villista bandits killed two American women and a little girl near Chihuahua, says Arthur Williams, agent for an automobile supply house in that city.

Williams arrived here yesterday in a motor car speckled with bullet marks from the rifles of outlaw pursuers, and reported that his wife and little daughter and another woman whose name he did not know had been killed by Villistas. They chased him all the way from Chihuahua City in another motor car.

Another refugee from the north of Mexico arriving here said Tuesday night that Villa had soaked the hair of two Mexican women in oil and set fire to them at Santa Rosalia Oct. 26. The refugee is a Mexican and says he talked to an eyewitness to the barbarity. He said that Uribe, the Villa commander, as threatening to kill every American and Chinese who is in his troops. It is also reported that Villistas took 67 bars of silver from Edward Koch, agent for an American mining concern at Parral, Chihuahua, on Oct. 27. The stolen silver is valued at $50,000.

There has been no confirmation, however, of the robbery by the officers of the company on this side of the border. The relatives and friends of the 11 Americans known to have been at the mercy of the Villa troops are still anxious concerning their safety. No news of a massacre of Americans, however, has been received from refugees, although threats of death are said to have been made by the bandits to every American.

CARRANZA WON'T RESIGN.
Although Candidate for Presidency, He Will Hold Place as First Chief.

Mexico City, Nov. 9.—Gen. Venustiano Carranza announced to the Associated Press Tuesday that he would not resign as first chief because of his candidacy for the presidency of the republic. He said, however, that if he considered it advisable he would withdraw from his official post just before the constitutional elections.

Gen. Carranza added that up to the present time the relations between Mexico and the United States had not been strained.

STEAL $50,000 SILVER.
Bandits Rob American of 67 Bars of Metal at Santa Rosalia.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 9.—Sixty-seven bars of silver belonging to an American mining camp at Parral, Chihuahua, are reported to have been taken from Edgar Koch, an agent of the company, by Villa bandits at Santa Rosalia on Oct. 27. The silver was said to have been valued at $50,000 and was being brought from Parral to the border. Koch is said to be the German consular agent in Parral.

A KIDNEY MEDICINE THAT HEALS AND STRENGTHENS

Several years ago I had charge of a plantation in the canebrake swamps on the lower Mississippi river. While there I contracted a severe case of swamp fever, getting so bad that I had hemorrhages of the bladder. I was under a doctor's care for about sixty days, with very little hope of my recovery. I did not find relief from the doctor's medicine and Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root being recommended to me, I tried some and got almost immediate relief. After taking seven fifty-cent bottles, I was able to resume my duties. Have not been obliged to take any medicine since that time.

Yours very truly,
A. J. TRACY,

Personally appeared before me this 7th day of January, 1915, A. J. Tracy, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My face and chest started to break out with pimples. Then my face started to get red and I used to scratch until the blood came. The pimples were large, red and hard, and the most of the time in blotches from my face to my chest. My face was all disfigured and would itch and burn so that I would stay awake hours at night."

"This kept on for seven and a half months so a friend advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I sent for a free sample and it started to heal me so I bought three cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Ointment, and they healed me." Beautiful San Gabriel Range.

The San Gabriel range, one of the most conspicuous and beautiful ranges of southern California, supplies water for the irrigation of a large part of the foothill valleys. According to the United States geological survey, department of the interior, the range is a long uplifted fault block—that is, a section of the earth's crust that has been forced up—bordered on the north and south by downthrown areas. On leaving San Bernardino the traveler can view the great mountain amphitheatre, with its numerous ranges and peaks, which lie north of the east end of the San Bernardino valley. Especially the views may be had of San Geronimo (altitude 11,485 feet), the highest peak in southern California; San Jacinto (altitude 10,905 feet), standing like a water tower at the north end of the great range which extends southward for hundreds of miles to the end of Lower California; and San Antonio (altitude 10,800 feet), San Antonio peak is the highest summit of the San Gabriel range, but not the highest mountain in southern California, as many suppose. All three of these peaks may be embraced in a single view.—Santa Fe guidebook, superintendent of documents, Washington, D. C.

Court Reform.

We have about given up hope that any reform looking toward a cheapening of the cost of justice, either to the state or litigants, will come by or through the lawyers. Privately and individually they agree that something should and could be done, but when it comes to action something holds them back. One might as well expect the clergymen to join hands in a movement to throw down denominational barriers, close churches and reduce the number of livings as that lawyers would sit up nights trying to devise ways in which money could be saved in litigation. No, the reform will have to come from other sources and it will encounter the organized opposition of the profession whose pecuniary interest is mostly vitally affected.—Randolph Herald.

MARKET SCORES SOME NEW HIGH RECORDS

U. S. Steel, Central Leather and Other Stocks Make New Figures—Many Buying Orders.

New York, Nov. 9.—Despite the uncertain tendency of the result of the general election the stock market opened yesterday with a strong, broad and active undertone in which some new high records were registered.

Advances ranged from 1 to 2½ points in United States Steel, Lackawanna Steel, Pressed Steel Car, Central Leather, American Locomotive, International Paper, Crucible Steel and several of the leading railroads.

Steel's opening comprised a block of 20,000 shares at 124½ to 124, with one small lot selling up to 125. Later the stock reacted to 123½.

The attendance on the floor of the exchange at the opening was the largest in many months and the offices of the leading commission houses were crowded. Brokers with out-of-town connections reported an overnight accumulation of buying orders, chiefly from the West and Southwest.

Before noon the market had advanced again, on large dealings. United States Steel sold at 126, going up in large lots. New high records were made in several stocks.

Over 600,000 shares changed hands at intermittent advances and declines in the first hour, the approach of midday being marked by a lessening of operations.

Bankers with foreign connections are in receipt of cables from London and Paris indicating a lively interest in the election and requesting definite news.

Recessions of 2 to 4 points occurred in the later dealings. The setback was most marked in U. S. Steel, Central Leather and other speculative issues. Rails yielded 1 to 2 points. By 2 o'clock sales approximated 1,800,000 shares.

Washington, Nov. 9.—Corn produced in 1916 in the United States will total 2,643,508,000 bushels, against 2,654,535,000 in 1915, the bureau of crop estimates announced yesterday.

The tobacco crop will total 1,145,530,000 pounds, against 1,090,587,000 in 1915.

Curious How He Knew It.

Some years ago an expedition from the University of Pennsylvania was sent to one of our southern states for the purpose of observing a solar eclipse.

The day before the event one of the professors said to an old colored man belonging to the household wherein the scientist was quartered:

"Tom, if you will watch your chickens to-morrow morn'g you'll find that they'll all go to roost at 11 o'clock."

Tom was, of course, skeptical; but at the appointed hour the heavens were darkened and the chickens retired to roost. At this the man's amazement showed no bounds, and he sought out the scientist.

"Perfesser," said he, "how long ago did you know dem chickens would go to roost?"

"About a year ago," said the professor smilingly.

"Well, ef dat don't beat all!" was the man's comment. "Perfesser, a year ago dem chickens wa'n't even hatched!"

General Sporting Notes.

By many Elmer Oliphant, the all-round star at West Point academy, is considered to be the best football star of the East, even superior to the great LeGore, Eddie Casey, Eddie Driggs, Gilroy and Jack Cammell. Out West Walter Eckersall picks "Chic" Harley, of Ohio state as the great back of the season. Harley was the man who scored all the points against Wisconsin last Saturday, making runs of 35 and 65 yards for two touchdowns.

Harley is a new star, while Oliphant is an old man with experience in the colleges of the West and a long term at West Point.

The Tuffs team have been put through the hardest scrimmage of the season this week with the most satisfying results, as the varsity line was almost impregnable and the second team crumbled beneath the attack of the first string backs. Coach Whalen is trying to keep his entire team in the pink of condition for the final game of the season with Syracuse. One of the biggest surprises of the week is the return to the game of Joclim, who is displaying remarkable form, having a chance to play through nearly all the practice on Tuesday's scrimmage. It is thought that Joclim will have a chance to start the game Saturday against the Springfield Training school.

If Tad Jones can guide his team through the Brown game next Saturday, he will have started a successful career at Yale, as it has been several years since the bulldog has been able to win all their games up to the final two contests, against Princeton and Harvard. For several seasons Washington & Jefferson, Brown, Colgate, Notre Dame and others have been tucking a game here and there and thus have broken up the success of a year. Providing Jones loses to both Princeton and Harvard it would be no disgrace to his system, as Haughton coached the Crimson five years before he scored a touchdown against the Elis. Rush lost to both Yale and Harvard last season, but he was called one of the best coaches that ever represented old Nassau.

Couldn't Blame the Fish.

A broad-minded Presbyterian dominie, whose parish was near the headwaters of the Susquehanna, had among his parishioners a character who was more punctual at the fishing hole than at church. Bright and early one Monday morning this Sabbath fisherman called the preacher to the door and presented him with a very fine and tempting string of pickerel.

The dominie was very profuse with his thanks for a gift that was indeed welcomed.

"That, look here, parson," said the man, still retaining the fish, "those fish were caught yesterday, and maybe your conscience won't let ye eat 'em."

"Never mind that," said the dominie stretched out his hand for the string, "there's one thing certain: the pickerel were not to blame."

She Understood!

He was trying to explain her first baseball game to the girl of his heart when a quarrel broke out on the diamond.

"Why, what is the matter now, Jack?" she asked. "Who is that man they're all quarreling with?"

"He's keeping the score," replied Jack. "Oh," said Grace with illumination, "and won't he give it up?"

CURRENT COMMENT

Rockport's Big Rock.

At one of the quarries on Cape Ann the largest block of granite ever cut, so far as local knowledge goes, has been loosened from its age-long resting place. It would weigh about 250,000 tons, if it could be weighed, and is 275 feet long and 100 feet square at the ends. It will not be moved away as a whole. No vessel could carry it.

For all we know this granite block is a record, but in spite of all our modern engineering the ancients were not far behind us in moving huge stones and they used them whole in monumental form.

Flinders Petrie, the explorer, found at Tanis, Egypt, the remains of a colossus which had been 92 feet high and was a statue cut from a single block of stone. The much mentioned Colossus at Rhodes was almost as high and was a wonder of the world. At Ephesus was the famous temple of Diana with its 127 columns of marble each of them cut from a single block. The work was done with the crudest machinery of which the motive power was slave labor. When Cheops built his pyramid he used 100,000 men on the job.

Most of the gigantic statues of antiquity date from the Hellenic age. They serve to bring out what was beneath that brilliant civilization. It was founded upon the forced labor of the millions. Their task masters used them up without scruple. The underlying brutality of those "good old days" is exemplified by the desire of rulers to raise a statue to themselves which should testify by its enormous bulk their power over men. The climax of modern European civilization is shown in another way, the power of the rulers to make the millions light.—Boston Globe.

Get the Good of the Coal.

When householders in New York, 300 miles nearer the mines than we are, pay $13 a ton for coal, while dealers here for a return of the prices that darkened 1902, it is time a prudent consumer learned whether his heating plant is 90, 50, or only 10 per cent efficient. Of the millions on millions of tons of coal that New England burns each year, no small part yields more ashes and chimney heat than comfort.

Most of us have a foolish notion that anyone can run a coal fire, be it small or big. We think that a furnace is a furnace, a choremann, a choremann. Unlike a stamp, a railway ticket, or a steak, coal does not look its value. Yet $10 coal, reduced to units of heat and shovel, means 25 cents for every 50 pounds. With the "high price parade" already under way at quickest and with shortages ahead in more than one staple, we ought to be studying hard the un-American art of household thrift. Why not begin with getting the good of our coal?

Would it not be sound strategy if the furnace and heater companies should send to select purchasers and to their old friends a set of real instructions for getting best service from the appliances put out? We do not mean an old-time card of directions, telling in general phrases of any child would know about kindling and feeding a fire. What the average householder needs is an exact account of how the particular furnace in his cellar should be managed in point of fitted fuel, in point of drafts above and beneath the fire-pot, with special rules for their invariably neglected balance, in point of automatic regulation, too, and all the rest.

Could not the coal men also help consumers with a clearly written booklet, telling them about kinds and grades of coal, quick and slow burning, about ash and clinkers, about the kind of coal best for furnaces with such and such wind exposures and with such and such degrees of possible attention? The dealers would certainly find the orders of a customer so instructed not only more intelligent but less pessimistically paid.—Boston Herald.

Idle Paving Blocks.

A veritable mountain of granite is growing in the leased city yard at the corner of Southampton street and Massachusetts avenue.

Millions of these paving blocks are available for further use and the city should use them for its own purposes rather than sell them to a political contractor who resells them to adjoining municipalities.

Approximately 60,000 square yards of these worn blocks are now being ripped from heavy traffic thoroughfares where new granite blocks are being laid under a $375,000 contract. Certainly these old blocks can be utilized, and now, under Mayor Curlew's self-advised administration of efficiency and economy, is the logical time.

By splitting the old blocks in halves, the natural line of cleavage in first quality granite furnishes a new top with sharp edges, and the rounded portion, with proper "dressing" by a stonecutter can be easily evened and roughened sufficiently to permit the cement grouting to take a permanent grip.

Possibly a lighter could be loaded at the North End yard and towed to Deer Island, where the greatest evil that exists at present is the lack of sufficient work for the prisoners to keep their minds and bodies properly exercised. At present, the stoneyard there is well equipped, but it undeniably could produce more. On the other hand, if such an economic step by the city would interfere with the employment of citizens by turning too much prison-made product into the municipal market, it should not be attempted.

The city has plenty of permanent pavers on its payroll, and what they do in the dull months has long been a municipal mystery. Let these large and partly-worn paving blocks be split and made available by these city men for laying next year, just as other cities that are

Mother-Made, Quick Acting Cough Syrup

Should be Kept Handy in Every Home—Easily Prepared and Costs Little.

Mother, you'll never know what you are missing until you make up this inexpensive, quick-acting cough syrup. Try it. Children love its pleasant taste and nothing else will loosen a cough, soothe a sore throat, and heal the inflamed, swollen throat membranes with ease and promptness. It's equally good for grown-ups as for children. This splendid cough syrup is made by pouring 2½ ounces of Pinex (30 cent worth), into a pint bottle and filling the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you a full pint—family supply—of much better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for $2.50—a clear saving of $2.

The moment it touches the inflamed, cold-congested membranes that line the throat and air passages, the healing begins. The phlegm loosens, soreness leaves, cough spasms lessen and soon disappear altogether, thus ending a cough quicker than you ever thought possible. Hoarseness and ordinary coughs are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Excellent for bronchitis, whooping cough, and colds, croup, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with quinine and is famous the world over for its quick healing effect on the membranes.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Development of Nova Scotia.

The industrial possibilities, as well as the tourist attractions, of Nova Scotia have received considerable attention in recent years, or since the tide of immigration toward western Canada set in. Some very informing and entertaining books have appeared dealing with Nova Scotia possibilities. Visitors to whom the Nova Scotia landscape has been a revelation, and the Nova Scotia highway a disappointment, have contributed their share to the general discussion. All appear to be in agreement on one principal point, namely, that the Nova Scotians do not realize what they have to offer the rest of the world, or, if they do, are short of understanding as to how to offer it. One very clever book with a London imprint points out that Nova Scotia is a "passed by" province, which is literally true. It has been "passed by" for years. The immigrant looking for a home, or the capitalist looking for investment, on arriving at Halifax has usually boarded a train for Quebec or Ontario or Manitoba or Saskatchewan, or Alberta or British Columbia, without taking the time or making the effort to look about him in one of the garden spots of the world, Nova Scotia.

It is pleasant to read that "development of the province of Nova Scotia, agriculturally, industrially, socially, and as a stock-raising country is an aim of Canadian government officials." It surely should be, and promise of a successful outcome of the movement is made brighter than it would otherwise be by the plan to have the development schemes carried on in co-operation with the provincial authorities. The general manager of the province's excellent railway system simply reiterates what has often been put down in writing where he says that resources of Nova Scotia have hardly been touched. He would be with in conservative bounds were he to say that the resources of the peninsula have never been fully understood, abroad or at home.

Everything claimed for the beauty, climate, fertility and opportunities for industry offered by Nova Scotia to the
